Report description:

Wound care is expected to register a further healthy increase in current value sales, as consumers continue to lead more active lives post pandemic. However, constant value growth is expected to be more muted, as wound care is dominated by imported products and inflationary pressure is hitting imported products in particular, due to sharp falls in foreign currency reserves, which is increasing importing costs.

Euromonitor International's Wound Care in Bolivia report offers a comprehensive guide to the size and shape of the market at a national level.
