Report description:

Dairy products and alternatives is witnessing an increase in current retail volume in 2023, despite a significant rise in current retail value terms due to price increases. Prices have risen more than 60% in 2023, following several waves of increase during 2022. These price changes have been due to global inflation, the high increase in raw material costs, and the war in Ukraine - with Ukraine being a key exporter of grains and animal feed to Egypt. This has led to a huge increase in the price o...
