Report description:

The performance of dairy products and alternatives in 2023 remains under the impact of still-high inflation and the pushed up costs of living which significantly affect a large part of the population in Romania. In fact, 2023 witnesses a continuation of 2022, when the strong increase seen in raw milk prices ended in elevated shelf prices for all dairy products. Consequently, the impact of the high cost of living on the purchasing power of mass Romanian consumers in 2023 is seen in volume decline...
