Report description:

All dermatologicals categories in Hungary are expected to post negative results in volume terms in 2023, in most cases for the second year in a row. Although a number of different factors have depressed demand in individual categories, the overall trend of decline is primarily attributable to the cost-of-living crisis. With high inflation continuing to erode purchasing power, many consumers have chosen to go without these products if they do not consider them essential or their symptoms are not...
