Report description:

The digestive category is not very active within Lithuania. Despite this, in 2023, sales are returning to a pre-pandemic state. Proton pump inhibitors are gaining a share, which was lost by H2 blockers, with brands such as Nolpaza doing well in this situation. The latter product is praised for blocking the final step in the pathway of acid secretion in the stomach, while the former blocks only one of the first stimuli for acid production.
