Report description:

According to research, 36% of Serbian citizens admit that they do not care enough about their diets, and this causes digestive problems, with 43% complaining of indigestion, heartburn, and other digestive problems. Indigestion and heartburn are the most common problems for Serbian citizens. Only 3% of Serbians have serious chronic problems. Although many Serbians admit that they have an unhealthy diet, 48% report that they have eaten more healthily during the last 12 months, which is above the E...
