Report description:

Market Overview:

The global retail analytics market size reached US$ 7.3 Billion in 2022. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach US$ 22.2 Billion by 2028, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 20.3% during 2023-2028. The growing online shopping activities of individuals to avail discounts and save time, increasing adoption of cloud-based retail analytics solutions, and rising digitization of businesses represent some of the key factors driving the market.

Retail analytics is the method of providing analytical information on supply chain movement, inventory levels, consumer demands, and sales, which are vital for making marketing and procurement decisions. It includes providing ideas to understand and optimize the supply chain of retail businesses, consumer behavior, sales trends, and the overall performance of a company. It helps online businesses meet the rising needs of customers with personalized omnichannel offers, efficient processes, and spontaneous adjustments to prevailing trends. It aids businesses in improving their marketing tactics and targeting customers by determining the ideal customer base. It also assists companies in examining the location, age, preferences, purchasing patterns, and other important factors associated with their customers to connect with the right set of audience. It enables brands to understand the rise and fall of demand for their products and optimize the prices accordingly. Retail analytics guides companies to find the right opportunities in the industry that have a high return on investment (ROI). It also helps retailers find the perfect location to open their new outlets by providing information on demographics and locations wherein people spend most of their time.

Retail Analytics Market Trends:

At present, the increasing demand for retail analytics to enhance customer retention rates of small and medium-sized businesses represents one of the primary factors influencing the market positively. Besides this, rising online shopping activities of individuals to avail discounts and save time is propelling the growth of the market. Additionally, the growing digitization of businesses to increase efficiency, reduce operational costs, achieve higher agility, enhance employee morale, and prevent the occurrence of human errors in various labor-intensive tasks is offering a favorable market outlook. Apart from this, the rising adoption of cloud-based retail analytics solutions to enhance data security, improve inventory management, and improve disaster recovery processes is contributing to the growth of the market. In addition, the increasing awareness about the benefits of adopting retail analytics to improve business operations is supporting the market growth. Moreover, rising preferences of companies to expand their business operations and connect with customers around the world is strengthening the market growth. Furthermore, key market players are developing advanced retail analytics solutions integrated with artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) to provide intelligent insights for real-time decision-making.
