In 2022, depilatories returned to current value growth, after declines in the previous two years in India. The major growth drivers in 2022 were increased concern about personal appearance, increased trips outside of the home, and a surge in travel. As an outcome of the pandemic, as well as an increasing number of beauty influencers in the country, consumers increasingly prioritised their physical appearance and turned to hair removers/bleaches to achieve smooth and hair-free skin.
