Report description:

In 2022 new vehicle sales hit historic lows in the US mobility sector, due to supply and demand pressures, but are forecast to grow by 14.0% over 2022-2027. EVs are thriving, thanks to the Biden Administration's Inflation Reduction Act and improved charging infrastructure. Scooter sharing is booming, and car rental sales surged by 27% in 2022. Public transportation projects are government priorities. Green travel and the 5G network transition present significant opportunities for the development...
