Report description:

The global wine packaging market size reached US$ 3.2 Billion in 2022. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach US$ 4.3 Billion by 2028, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 5.0% during 2022-2028.

The wine packaging can be done in a variety of sizes, formats and materials which offer greater convenience while use, are economic, and improve the visual appeal of the product. The traditional glass bottles are most commonly used in the industry. Their new variants such as thinner echo-glass containers and etched glass bottles are also being preferred among the wine producers. The single-serve wine containers are also gaining a lot of traction worldwide as they offer more convenience than glass bottles. Market players are also using advanced graphics to improve the aesthetic appeal of wine packaging and expand their existing consumer base.

Rising on-premise wine consumption, especially among the young population, on account of inflating income levels, changing lifestyles and emerging socialization trends, represents one of the key factors stimulating the market growth. The escalating demand for premium wine variants in gourmet restaurants and luxury hotels is also contributing to the market growth. Apart from this, the integration of QR codes with wine labels and the introduction of double layer wine bottles are further influencing the market positively. Furthermore, the key players are introducing innovative packaging methods that are attractive, lighter, eco-friendly and sustainably produced. Other factors, such as easy product availability through online retail channels, increasing rate of internet penetration, product premiumization and the changing consumer preferences especially among the young and working professionals are also expected to drive the market in the coming years.
