Report description:

Sports drinks saw overall positive growth in retail volume sales in 2023. With the pandemic behind them, the everyday lives of Canadians have become more mobile. As such, sports drinks benefit from increased outdoor activities and gym training sessions, as well as more single-serve consumption. This is despite the inflationary pressure resulting in higher prices during the year. Reduced sugar sports drinks fared well, thanks to a post-COVID-19 focus on health and wellbeing.
