Report description:

The retail consumption of fish and seafood continued to decline in 2023, albeit at a slightly slower pace than in the previous two years. This decline was primarily due to reduced purchasing power leading to an increased focus on essential goods and smaller shopping baskets. With high inflation, rising interest rates and a general increase in the cost of living many consumers were forced to look for savings. Added to this, fish and seafood was not included in the government's move to offer 0% VA...
