Report description:

Thin wall plastic containers remained the top packaging type in 2022, commonly used for products such as yoghurt, cream, and soft cheese. Although thin wall plastic containers remained the leading pack type for butter and spreads in 2022, folding cartons also remained popular. Folding cartons provide not only a sturdy and protective enclosure for butter and spreads, helping to safeguard the product from damage during transportation and storage, but also protect it from sunlight and moisture, thu...
