Report description:

Cigarettes were in decline in Western Europe in 2022, but sales of next-generation products were increasing - with this expected to continue in the coming years. Disposable vapes recorded dynamic growth in the UK, the region's biggest e-vapour products market. Italy, the leading market for heated tobacco products, continued to record strong growth of these products, despite already accounting for half of regional sales. Sweden and Denmark are driving the regional performance in nicotine pouches.

Euromonitor International's Cigarettes and Alternative Nicotine Products in Western Europe global briefing offers an insight into the size and shape of the Tobacco market, highlighting major industry trends and categories as well as the factors affecting operating environment. It identifies the leading companies and brands, offers impartial, strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market - be they new product developments, legislative restrictions or pricing influences. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and where it is headed.
