Report description:

The France sports teams and clubs market generated a revenue of over USD 3.06 billion in the current year and is anticipated to register a CAGR of more than 7% for the forecast period.

Soccer is the most popular and dominant sport in France. The country has a well-established professional league system, with Ligue 1 being the top-tier league. Rugby holds a significant place in French sports culture, particularly in the southwest of the country. The French national rugby team has a strong international presence. Basketball has been growing in popularity in France, with the French Basketball Federation (FFBB) overseeing the sport. The top professional basketball league is LNB Pro A, and the French national basketball team has achieved success in international competitions. Handball is another popular sport in France, both in terms of participation and spectatorship. The French national handball team has a strong reputation and has won multiple Olympic gold medals and World Championships. France has a rich cycling heritage, and the prestigious Tour de France is one of the world's most renowned cycling races. France has a thriving sports culture that extends beyond the mentioned sports. Other popular sports include tennis, motorsports, skiing, athletics, and more.

Local sporting events and group activities were either completely impossible or just partially possible as a result of COVID-19. Additionally, because of the coronavirus attack in France, fewer people joined sports clubs. Following COVID-19, sports clubs increased portions of their sports programs with digital alternative offerings to replace the closure of the sports facilities and the ensuing discontinuance of the sports programs. As a result, the market is progressively becoming profitable.
