Report description:

In 2023, retail adult incontinence goods in the Dominican Republic recorded double-digit retail value growth while retail volume sales remained positive. Despite inflationary pressures and the rising cost of living, the product is considered a daily necessity for the majority of its users, leading volume levels to remain high. Sales are also driven mainly by middle- and high-income demographic groups, and as a result, the increases in price points had less of a significant input on their budgets...
