Report description:

Positive net migration rates and natural change will drive population expansion in the USA between 2021-2040. Ageing will remain a key theme, with the rise of 65+ citizens influencing consumer trends. However, the climbing old-age dependency ratio will challenge the country. Urbanisation will continue to be swift, with citizens moving from rural areas for career and work opportunities. The USA will remain a key consumer market in 2040, supported by its vast population and rising consumer base.
