Report description:

Fresh food is set to display high single-digit retail current value growth in India in 2023, thanks to rises in unit prices and steady retail volume growth. Many fresh food categories have experienced inflation due to lower production estimates, primarily because of erratic weather conditions. However, since fresh food is considered essential in most Indian households, consumers have continued their purchases of fresh food, but with certain changes. For instance, consumers with relatively lower...
