Report description:

A financial consulting software is a type of financial advisor. In addition, it is used to meet current and future financial goals through a financial plan, and it can be classified as wealth growing software and protection tool software. Moreover, many authorities globally are constantly updating consultation and regulation according to developments in global marketplaces. Furthermore, financial consultant software looks at the whole picture of a client's financial life, including debts, assets, expenses, and income, to help clients determine what those goals should be. Financial consultants who have the proper licenses may also manage their clients' investments.

High rate of adoption by financial consulting software among HNIs and increase in demand for alternative investments drive the growth of the financial consulting software market. Moreover, increase in use of digital transformation technology boosts the market growth. However, lack of awareness about financial consulting software and increase in security concerns restrict the growth of the market. On the contrary, rise in innovations in the fintech industry is expected to offer remunerative opportunities for expansion of the market during the forecast period.

The financial consulting software market is segmented on the basis of offering, deployment model, end users, enterprise size, and region. On the basis of offering, the market is categorized into software and service. On the basis of deployment model, the market is bifurcated into on-premise and cloud. On the basis of enterprise size, the market is classified into large enterprise and SMEs. On the basis of end user, it is classified into banks, wealth management firms, and others. By region, the market is analyzed across North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, and LAMEA.

The key players that operate in the financial consulting software market are Accenture, Acorns Grow Incorporated, Active Intelligence Pte Ltd., Advicent Solutions, Deloitte, eMoney Advisor, LLC, Finastra Limited, Fiserv, Inc., Moneytree Software, Miles
