Report description:

Title insurance is a form of indemnity insurance that protects lenders and homebuyers from financial loss sustained in property. The most common type of title insurance is lender's title insurance, which the borrower purchases to protect the lender. The other type is owner's title insurance, which is often paid for by the seller to protect the buyer's equity in the property.

Rise in number of real estate transactions and increase in digital influence is boosting the growth of the global title insurance market. In addition, rise in the number of aggregators and digital brokers positively impacts the growth of the title insurance market. However, lack of awareness among customers and increase in security concerns are hampering the title insurance market growth. On the contrary, increase in adoption of digital solutions is expected to offer remunerative opportunities for expansion of the title insurance market during the forecast period.

The title insurance market is segmented on the basis of type, distribution channel, end user, and region. On the basis of type, the market is categorized into owner's title insurance, and lender's title insurance. On the basis of distribution channel, the market is fragmented into direct channel, agents & brokers, and others. On the basis of end user, the market is bifurcated into enterprise, and personal. By region, the market is analyzed across North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, and LAMEA.□

The key players that operate in the title insurance market are Fidelity National Title, Allianz SE, Zurich Insurance Group, China life property and Casualty Insurance Company Limited, Chicago title insurance company, Commonwealth Land Title Insurance Company, Conestoga Title Insurance Co., Westcor Land Title Insurance Company, Inc., First American Financial Corporation, and Williston Financial Group. These players have adopted various strategies to increase their market penetration and strengthen their position in the industry.
