Report description:

Deodorants in Guatemala rose faster in 2023 than it did in the previous year, in terms of both volume and current value sales. The category is hugely dominated by mass products, with premium presence being insignificant. Over 2022 and 2023 prices rose rapidly, leading consumers to seek out lower-cost options. This benefitted sales of deodorant sticks thanks to their affordability and the fact that they tend to last longer than other formats, requiring fewer purchases.
