Report description:

In 2024, pet care in Portugal is set to see current value growth, although this is projected to be lower than that seen in the previous couple of years. After an increasing number of pet adoptions during the pandemic, the pet population is expected to decline in this year. The return to offices and a drop in household purchasing power has meant that fewer families have been able to adopt pets due to time constraints and financial concerns. Regarding pet food, in 2023 there was a strong increase...

CAT FOOD IN PORTUGAL

KEY DATA FINDINGS

2024 DEVELOPMENTS

The growth of cat treats continues in 2023 and 2024, although at a lower level

In addition to the two leaders, private label performs well

Pet humanisation, and the opportunity for innovation and seasonal products to drive growth

PROSPECTS AND OPPORTUNITIES

Growth expected as cat population and feeding of prepared food continue to rise

Private label and manufacturer brands will compete to gain and retain pet owners' preference and loyalty

Innovation will mainly involve product ranges with high added value and differentiated products
