Report description:

In 2023, concentrates experienced significant growth due to a notable rise in the country's average temperatures driven by El Nino at the year's onset and later in the year. This heightened heat sensation prompted increased hydration needs and thirst quenching among individuals. Concurrently, inflation played a pivotal role. Common fruits used for home-made juices, such as lemon, passion fruit, and pineapple, faced substantial price hikes, particularly affecting consumption, especially among Per...
