Report description:

The hearth market is projected to reach USD 13.4 billion by 2029 from USD 10.9 billion in 2024, at a CAGR of 4.2% from 2024 to 2029. The major factors driving the market growth of the hearth market include the rising demand for home automation, growing interest in visually pleasing fireplaces, increasing use of hearths in and around houses to combat cold weather, customizing hearth designs offers an abundance of options, and increasing awareness of climate change and environment sustainability. Moreover, continuous technological advancement in hearth products and growing deployment of hearths in residential, commercial and hospitality industry is expected to provide several growth opportunities for market players in the hearth market.

Outdoor hearths expected to grow at the highest CAGR of the hearth market during the forecast period.

The growing trend for outdoor hearths is attributed to several factors such as the rising popularity of outdoor living spaces, the trend towards backyard entertainment, and the desire for aesthetically pleasing and functional outdoor heating solutions. Indoor hearths hold the largest hearth market share and are likely expected to continue during the forecast period. Portable hearths, having a smaller market share compared to indoor and outdoor hearths, are becoming increasingly preferred by customers. This shift is due to their versatility and convenience, the ease of installation and mobility, and their suitability for both indoor and outdoor use, making them an attractive option for consumers seeking flexibility in their heating solutions.

Traditional hearths designs are projected to register the largest market share in the hearth market during the forecast period. Consumers are increasingly adopting modern hearths due to their convenience and advanced features. Modern hearths prioritize functionality and efficiency, often incorporating advanced technology for easy control and enhanced safety. The increasing preference for modern hearths can be attributed to their visual appeal, incorporation of the latest technologies, and low emission rates. Furthermore, modern hearths are better equipped to meet guidelines issued by regulatory bodies, making them a more sustainable and compliant choice for consumers. Despite traditional hearths holding the largest market share, the adoption rate of traditional hearths is decreasing due to emissions from wood-burning contribute to environmental concerns, leading to government-imposed taxes and regulations and maintenance issues.

North America is expected to account for the largest market share during the forecast period

The growing market for electric-based fireplaces and stoves, outdoor hearths and modern hearths significantly contributes to the market growth of the region. Energy-efficient hearth products with advanced technologies have further propelled the market, offering innovative and efficient heating devices that cater to modern consumer needs. Key players in the hearth market in North America include Napoleon (Canada), HNI Corp. (US), Innovative Hearth Products (US), Empire Comfort Systems (US) and Montigo (Canada).
