North America Furniture Market Report and Forecast 2024-2032

Market outlook

According to the report by Expert Market Research (EMR), the North America furniture market size reached a value of USD 95.10 billion in 2023. Aided by the increasing demand for home and office furnishings and the growing applications of innovative and sustainable furniture designs, the market is projected to further grow at a CAGR of 8.0% between 2024 and 2032 to reach a value of USD 188.99 billion by 2032.

Furniture, encompassing a wide range of products such as chairs, tables, beds, sofas, and storage units, plays a vital role in both residential and commercial spaces. In North America, the furniture market is driven by factors such as rising disposable incomes, urbanisation, and evolving consumer preferences towards modern and multifunctional furniture.

The growing trend of home improvement and interior decoration is driving the demand for stylish and functional furniture.

Additionally, the rise of remote work has increased the need for ergonomic home office setups.

The versatility and functionality of furniture make it suitable for a wide range of applications in the residential and commercial sectors. The growing demand for high-quality and modern furniture in these sectors is driving the market growth.

The increasing consumer preference for aesthetically pleasing and functional furniture is driving the North America furniture market growth. With the growing trend of home improvement and interior decoration, there has been a significant shift towards the adoption of stylish and contemporary furniture. Additionally, the rising trend of remote work and the need for ergonomic office furniture has further contributed to the increasing popularity of home office setups.

The expanding applications of furniture in various sectors also play a significant role in propelling the market. In the residential sector, furniture is used to enhance the comfort and functionality of living spaces. The commercial sector utilises furniture to create conducive and productive work environments in offices, hotels, restaurants, and retail stores. Moreover, the hospitality industry benefits from high-quality and stylish furniture to enhance the guest experience.

Further, the growing focus on sustainability and eco-friendly products has led to an increased demand for sustainable furniture.

With the rise of environmentally conscious consumers and the need to reduce the environmental impact of furniture production, manufacturers are increasingly focusing on sustainable materials and practices. This trend is expected to boost the North America furniture market expansion in the coming years, consequently driving up the North America furniture market share.
