Report description:

Retail volume sales of snacks are set to see healthy growth in 2024. Despite difficult economic conditions and rising prices, demand for snacks will remain healthy with falling unemployment acting in support. Confectionery is set to benefit from the full resumption of society, while sweet biscuits will be boosted from their free provision in schools. Sales of ice cream, however, will continue to contract due to rising production costs and the withdrawal of Haagen-Dazs vanilla ice cream.
