Report description:

Wearable electronics will see positive growth in volume terms in 2024, building on the more muted performance of the previous year. This will be driven by a number of factors, not least the health and wellness trend, which was facilitated by COVID-19. Consumers are using these devices to monitor various metrics, such as steps taken, calories burned, heart rate, sleep quality and blood oxygen level, among others, in order to help them stay on track with their fitness goals. This explains the cons...
