Report description:

The market for wearable electronics in Spain is expected to see early signs of recovery in 2024, following the declines of the previous two years. Growth has been impacted by a waning consumer interest in activity bands, which had been popular at the start of the review period. These devices have been declining at a double-digit rate in retail volume terms since the start of the pandemic, as consumers increasingly favour smart wearables, which can be used for a wider range of functions, as well...
