Founded in 1918, Votorantim SA is a prominent Brazilian conglomerate headquartered in Sao Paulo, Brazil. The company operates across diversified sectors, encompassing industrial, financial, and energy segments. Votorantim's industrial operations include significant holdings in cement and building materials, metals and mining, chemicals, pulp and paper, and steel. These sectors form the core of its industrial portfolio, contributing to its robust presence in the Brazilian and global markets. In addition to its industrial ventures, Votorantim SA has a notable financial arm, Votorantim Financas, which encompasses investments in financial services and banking. This segment enhances the company's financial stability and provides strategic investments in Brazil's financial sector. Furthermore, Votorantim has expanded its footprint in the energy sector through Votorantim Energia, engaging in power generation and renewable energy projects. This diversification underscores Votorantim's commitment to sustainability and its role in advancing Brazil's energy infrastructure. Operating globally, Votorantim SA leverages its extensive network and expertise to drive innovation and sustainable growth across its various business segments. The company's century-long legacy of excellence and strategic investments continues to position it as a key player in Brazil's economy and a leader in the industries it serves.
