Report description:

Demand for analgesics in Algeria continues to grow steadily in 2024, albeit at a slower pace, with consumer preferences largely limited to acetaminophen, aspirin, and combination products. Most Algerians use analgesics only on an occasional basis. However, as education and awareness surrounding self-medication increase, consumers are gradually more inclined to treat pain themselves rather than seek the advice of a medical professional. This shift reflects a growing confidence in self-care, though...
