Report description:

Sales of analgesics are declining in current value and retail volume terms in 2024. One of the reasons for this trend is the decline in purchasing power in Azerbaijan with the rising price of basic goods and services putting a strain on consumers' incomes. Furthermore, in value terms sales are suffering from the fact that consumers are tending to choose those analgesics that are sold at more reasonable prices. This latter point is also a reflection of the growing understanding that cheaper produ...
