Report description:

Analgesics is set to see current value growth in Israel in 2024. The year has seen a rise in demand for analgesics, partly as a result of people tending to have more stress related headaches due to worries about friends and family, the worry about being called up to serve in the army and concern about the future in general. As people have started to suffer more from headaches, they have looked for products to alleviate the pain.

Euromonitor International's Analgesics in Israel report offers a comprehensive guide to the size and shape of the market at a national level.
