Report description:

Analgesics is expected to register double-digit current value growth in Pakistan in 2024, though constant value growth is expected to be muted, as inflation remains high. Acetaminophen continues to account for most value sales, with ibuprofen in second position, though acetaminophen is expected to register higher volume growth in 2024. Any growth there is labelling supported by population growth, as well as high levels of self-medication, as the public health system struggles to meet its populat...
