Report description:

By 2040, Japan's aging population and shrinking workforce is set to reshape its economy, with single-person households dominating and healthcare demand surging as older cohorts remain the most prevalent. Despite recent wage increases, financial conservatism is set to persist, leading to slower private consumption growth compared to global trends with consumers prioritising savings. Job security remains a top priority, reflecting the country's deep-rooted tradition of lifetime employment.

Euromonitor's Japan: Consumer Profile report analyses factors influencing national consumer expenditure. Consumer lifestyles reports include coverage of: population, urban development, home ownership, household profiles, labour, income, consumer and family expenditure, health, education, eating habits, drinking habits, shopping habits, personal grooming, clothing, leisure habits, savings and investments, media, communication, transport and travel and tourism.
