The profile also contains descriptions of the leading players including key financial metrics and analysis of competitive pressures within the market.

Key Highlights

- The marine freight sector includes revenues generated from the transportation of containers (only LoLo) and dry bulk cargo by sea and ocean-going vessels. The sector encompasses domestic and international freight, which, for the purposes of this report, is counted in the country of origin.
- The German marine freight industry recorded revenues of $28.9 billion in 2023, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 0.5% between 2018 and 2023.
- The containerized segment accounted for the industry's largest proportion in 2023, with total revenues of $26.4 billion, equivalent to 91.2% of the industry's overall value.
- Increasing total merchandise exports and imports is a significant driver for the marine freight industry. Higher trade volumes necessitate a more extensive and efficient shipping network to handle the increased flow of cargo between countries. According to the World Trade Organization (WTO), in 2023, German merchandise exports grew by 2.8%, while imports rose by 3.5% from the previous year, reflecting a substantial expansion in international trade.
