Report description:

Baby fruit juices are a key product area in other baby food and are increasingly popular among parents in helping fulfil the dietary needs of babies. Glass bottles, which are the main pack type for baby fruit juices, were recording positive growth in 2023. Glass packaging is popular for these products as it is considered a safe and non-toxic material for storing baby food, ensuring that no harmful chemicals leach into the contents. Moreover, glass packaging is environmentally friendly, as it is...
