Report description:

Rigid plastic is the main packaging format used for dairy products in Mexico, accounting for more than half of the unit volumes used in this category. Rigid plastic has also been gaining unit volume share in recent years, including 2023. Rigid plastic has been recording increasing demand in dairy as this type of packaging is seen as being sustainable and also helps to preserve the quality and taste of the dairy products it houses. HDPE bottles and thin wall plastic containers are the two main ty...
