Report description:

Debit cards in the UK remains the most popular card payment method in 2024, with transaction volume growth of 5% and transaction value growth of 3%, to hold 75% value share of all card payment transactions in the local market. This increase is consistent with companies across the country using commercial debit cards more frequently than other card payment methods to better manage their spending. However, since personal debit cards account for the majority of debit card usage, the category's posi...
