Report description:

In 2024, store cards in the UK remains the smallest financial card category and the weakest performer, with a 15% decline in the number of cards in circulation, and 10% and 12% declines in volume and value transactions, respectively. Due to the limited usage of store cards in the local market - linked to purchases from a specific retailer or retail group - and consumers' desire for greater flexibility and convenience from their payment methods, store cards continues to lose popularity in the UK.

Euromonitor International's Store Card Transactions in United Kingdom report establishes the size and structure of the market for ATMs cards, smart cards, credit cards, debit cards, charge cards, pre-paid cards and store cards.
