Apparel & Non-Apparel Manufacturing in Australia

Summary

Apparel & Non-Apparel Manufacturing in Australia industry profile provides top-line qualitative and quantitative summary information including: market size (value 2018-23, and forecast to 2028). The profile also contains descriptions of the leading players including key financial metrics and analysis of competitive pressures within the market.

Key Highlights

- The apparel & non-apparel manufacturing market is segmented into apparel and non-apparel products. The market value refers to the revenue generated by apparel and non-apparel manufacturers in a specific year.
- The Australian apparel & non-apparel manufacturing market recorded revenues of $17,749.9 million in 2023, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.7% between 2018 and 2023.
- The apparel segment accounted for the market's largest proportion in 2023, with total revenues of $16,437.3 million, equivalent to 92.6% of the market's overall value.
- In 2023, the decline in Australia's apparel & non-apparel manufacturing market was primarily driven by high operational costs and supply chain challenges. Australia's relatively high labor costs, coupled with stringent regulatory requirements, made domestic manufacturing increasingly expensive compared to production in lower-cost countries in Asia. This cost disparity led many Australian brands to outsource their production overseas, diminishing the local manufacturing base. Additionally, supply chain disruptions caused by global events, such as the aftermath of the pandemic and geopolitical tensions, led to delays and increased costs for importing raw materials and components necessary for apparel and textile production.
