Report description:

Retail volume sales of consumer appliances in South Africa continue to rise in 2024, having recovered to pre-pandemic levels the previous year. Performances are varied among the different categories; however generally, small appliances is experiencing stronger growth in comparison to major appliances. This is largely attributed to harsh economic conditions caused by factors such as inflationary pressures and high interest rates experienced throughout 2023 and into the first half of 2024. This sc...
