Report description:

The hotter summer weather from late May 2024 led to solid volume growth of air treatment products in Taiwan, as consumers sought products to help them cope with the higher temperatures. Energy subsidies launched by the local government since 2023 have helped consumers replace their existing products with more energy efficient alternatives. The exemption period for Commodity Tax has been further extended over 2024 due to weaker sales performance of consumer appliances throughout 2024. Energy effi...
