Report description:

In 2024, carbonates in India is set to maintain growth in both the off-trade and on-trade channels, in both volume and current value terms. According to the latest National Family Health Survey (NFHS) conducted between 2019 and 2021, there has been a significant increase in access to electricity in the country, with 99% of urban households and 95% of rural households now having access to electricity, marking a notable improvement over the past decade. The improvement in electrification, particul...
