Report description:

After seeing a weakening in its growth rate in 2020, when the pandemic first hit the region, consumer health in Asia Pacific had then been recording strong growth until 2024, when normalisation of sales and a difficult macroeconomic environment in China slowed the overall regional performance. Positive growth is expected over the forecast period, driven by factors such as ageing populations, increasing health awareness and rising levels of self-medication.

Euromonitor International's Consumer Health in Asia Pacific global briefing examines the size, growth trends and potential opportunities in the Consumer Health market. The strategic analyses include assessing the impacts of changing regulations, research breakthroughs and public health concerns on both the market and leading companies. Consumer attitudes towards the products and their personal healthcare needs are also explored.

Product coverage: Allergy Care, Herbal/Traditional Products, OTC, Paediatric Consumer Health, Sports Nutrition, Vitamins and Dietary Supplements, Weight Management and Wellbeing.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
