Report description:

In 2024, hot drinks in Lithuania recorded retail value growth of 4%, while retail volume stabilised after three consecutive years of decline. This result was due to stable price inflation, which improved consumer confidence and results in the hot drinks market. However, a shrinking consumer base has been an ongoing concern for sales. While the consumer base grew in the latter part of the review period, making this factor less problematic, growth largely stemmed from immigration. While this demog...
