Report description:

Total volume sales of pulses grew in Mexico in 2024. The impact of droughts in Mexico has caused a sustained increase in the import of beans, with 2023 registering the lowest production in 30 years and consequently one of the highest levels of imports in the review period. With 2024 experiencing the same issues, including the delay of the delivery of crop supplies, which also contributed to a double-digit decrease in production, the government continued to increase the volume of imports, mainly...
