Report description:

The market for writing instruments in the Philippines continued to expand in 2024, driven by population growth, which resulted in more children attending school and adults entering the workforce. However, the rate of volume growth slowed compared to 2021 and 2022, primarily due to the increasing integration of hybrid digital and offline set-ups in schools and workplaces post-pandemic. Additionally, government efforts to provide digital tools, such as tablets, particularly to children from lower...
