Real Estate Global Industry Guide 2020-2029

Summary

Global Real Estate industry profile provides top-line qualitative and quantitative summary information including: industry size (value and volume , and forecast to 2029). The profile also contains descriptions of the leading players including key financial metrics and analysis of competitive pressures within the industry.

Key Highlights

- Real estate refers to physical property and consists of land and buildings. The market scope includes renting and leasing various types of real estate properties. Market volume refers to the total number of properties that are rented or leased. It does not encompass properties sold by real estate brokers or agents, nor does it include land sales, whether for rent or full purchase. The scope of market volume also excludes unoccupied properties. Market value refers to the revenue generated from renting and leasing properties.
- By property type, the real estate market is categorized into residential, commercial, industrial, and institutional. Residential segment covers renting and leasing residential properties. Commercial segment includes renting and leasing office buildings, retail shops, restaurants, and commercial complexes. Industrial segment covers renting and leasing warehouses, factories, and flex spaces. Institutional segment includes the renting and leasing of schools, colleges, and university buildings.
- All market data and forecasts are based on nominal prices (i.e., prices not adjusted for inflation), and all currency conversions used in the creation of this report have been calculated using yearly annual average exchange rates. The USD values may show a declining trend for few countries such as Argentina, Turkey, Nigeria, Egypt, and Russia. This is primarily because of the impact of exchange rates considered.
- The global real estate industry recorded revenues of $8,991.4 billion in 2024, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 0% between 2019 and 2024.
