Report description:

Description

Report Scope

The report will include details about various types, substrates, technologies and end-use industries for acrylic coatings. Estimated values are based on manufacturers' total revenues. Projected revenue values are in constant U.S. dollars, unadjusted for inflation. The report also contains comprehensive information regarding acrylic coatings and their users.

The global acrylic coatings market is segmented into the following categories:

- Type (thermoplastics and thermosets)
- Substrate (concrete, metal, plastic, wood, and others)
- Technology (waterborne, solvent-borne, powder, and others)
- End use (building and construction, general industrial, automotive, furniture, and others)
- Region (North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, South America, and Middle East & Africa)

Report Includes

- 135 data tables and 41 additional tables
- An overview of the global market for acrylic coatings
- An analysis of the global market trends with market revenue data from 2023, estimates for 2024, forecasts for 2028, and projected CAGRs through 2029
- Evaluation of the current market size and revenue growth prospects for the acrylic coatings market, accompanied by a market share analysis by type, substrate, technology, end-use industry, and region
- Assessment of the key drivers and constraints that will shape the market for acrylic coatings, as well as upcoming market opportunities
- Discussion of the properties of acrylic coatings, such as storage stability, superior hardness, gloss retention, weather and corrosion resistance, and adhesion to non-porous surfaces
- Coverage of the major technologies used in the acrylic coatings market such as waterborne, solvent-borne, and powder coatings

- Assessment of ESG ratings and metrics, and ESG practices in the acrylic coatings industry and their impact; and insights into governance policies
- Evaluation of industry acquisitions and strategic alliances, and a market share analysis of the leading suppliers
- Company Profile of leading market participants, including Akzo Nobel N.V., PPG Industries Inc., BASF, Dow, and Jotun

Executive Summary

Summary:

The global acrylic coatings market is expected to grow from $68.6 billion in 2024 and is projected to reach $87.8 billion by the end of 2029, at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.1% during the forecast period of 2024 to 2029.

Acrylic coatings are known for their unique properties and appearance. The key properties, namely, durability, weather resistance, chemical resistance, rapid drying, UV resistance, corrosion protection, flexibility, and aesthetic appeal, have attracted the attention of end-use industries. Acrylic coatings can provide gloss retention, fade-resistant, and color retention properties to concrete, metal, plastic, and wood substrates. Growing technological innovation in radiation-cured acrylic coatings, nano acrylic coatings, and UV-cured acrylic coatings further create the importance of acrylic coatings in the global market. The growing industrial production, investments in aerospace & defense, and automotive consumption create the demand for acrylic coatings during the forecast period.

Table of Contents:

- Table of Contents
- Chapter 1 Executive Summary
- Market Outlook
- Scope of Report
- Market Summary
- Chapter 2 Market Overview
- Market Definition
- Factors Affecting the Choice of Acrylic Coatings
- Importance of Acrylic Coatings
- Chapter 3 Market Dynamics
- Key Takeaways:
- Market Dynamics Snapshot
- Drivers
- Growing Demand for Architectural Coatings
- Rising Consumption of Acrylic Coatings by the Automotive Industry
- Restraints
- Regulatory Burden on Producers
- Shortage of Skilled Labor
- Opportunities
- Geographic Expansion Through Acquisitions
- Growth Opportunities in the Aerospace and Defense Industry
- Challenge
- Intense Competition
- Chapter 4 Regulatory Landscape
- Key Takeaways
- Regulatory Bodies in the Global Acrylic Coatings Market
