Report description:

The global cocamide diethanolamine market witnessed a healthy growth in the historical period of 2018-2024 aided by the rising demand in cosmetics and skincare. The market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.00% during the forecast period of 2025-2034.

North American Regions to Aid the Growth of the Global Market for Cocamide Diethanolamine

The cocamide diethanolamine industry is being influenced by the changing customer preferences and rising demands for cosmetic and skincare products. The large production volumes and exporting capacities of regions like North America, closely followed by Europe and the Asia Pacific, is driving the cocamide diethanolamine industry forward.

The widespread use of cocamide diethanolamine in the cosmetics industry is one of the major contributors for the market growth. The excellent foaming capacity of the product and its use as an emulsifying agent, especially in the personal care and pharmaceutical industries, is propelling the market growth. Moreover, the rising globalisation and rapidly changing market scenario is forcing industries to adopt cocamide diethanolamine.

Cocamide Diethanolamine: Market Segmentation

Cocamide diethanolamine, or as it is popularly known as cocamide DEA, is a diethanolamide made by reacting a mixture of fatty acids obtained from coconut oil with diethanolamine. It is a viscous liquid and find its use widely as a foaming and emulsifying agent in various industries.

Rising Demand for the Product Across End Use Sectors are Driving the Cocamide Diethanolamine Market Growth

The cocamide diethanolamine industry is being driven by the rising demand for the product in the cosmetics and skincare industries. The increasing demand for cosmetic products is providing impetus to the global cocamide diethanolamine industry. Cocamide DEA has excellent stabilising properties and is, thus, being used in shampoos as a foaming agent in various cosmetic and bathing products. This, in turn, has propelled the cocamide diethanolamine industry growth. The global market for cocamide diethanolamine is expected to witness a growth in the coming years, being influenced by evolving customer preferences and an increase in the number of cocamide diethanolamine applications.
